

Reapportionment Plan Is Outlined By Idaho Grange

BOISE (AP) — Reapportionment that would divide Idaho into 30 legislative districts with one senator and two representatives each was outlined to legislators today by the Idaho Grange. The plan — which would subdivide counties and require legislators to be residents of their districts, was presented as public hearings began on a variety of reapportionment proposals. Reapportionment is the primary reason for the Idaho Legislature's special session now in its fourth day.

The senate approved without opposition the first measure to reach the final reading calendar in the special session, which began Monday. It ratifies a proposed amendment to the federal constitution. The resolution dealing with presidential succession, now goes to the House.

Hugh Parks of Julianne, legislative representative of Idaho State Grange, said: "We favor the setting up of districts which allow both rural and urban interests to elect men who are familiar with and sympathetic to their problems."

Unlike the Idaho Grange, federal reapportionment proposal; the grange plan would not specifically give legislators to "major cities."

"We decided not to try to wall cities off," Parks said. "We're trying to deal with cities, suburban areas and rural areas together."

Subdistricting of counties has become a strong controversy underlying the special session.

Legislators will not be quailed on reasons for the controversy, but some say privately large-county representatives oppose subdistricting because they live in areas which would be embraced in a single district.

Thus if five representatives, for example, live in one district, all five would lose their seats in the legislature in the next election.

Fear that subdistricting would permit the minority party in two districts also is cited as a reason for the opposition.

Under the present at-large election in counties, the majority party usually has all the county representatives.

80 Viet Cong Are Killed in "White Wing"

Saigon, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. and South Korean troops, supported by aircraft from White Wing, 200 miles north of Saigon, struck the Viet Cong in four separate sectors today and claimed 80 killed.

The Communists had their largest losses since the two Claymore mines set by terrorists shortly after noon near the headquarters of the Vietnamese Joint General Staff killed 100, 60 of the dead were military.

Bad weather returned to North Viet Nam but U.S. Air Force and Navy pilots flew 27 sorties and destroyed 10 bridges around Vinh and Dong Hoi and storage areas south of Dien Bien Phu. Spokesmen said the weather prevented assessment of damage.

In recognition of the "White Wing" front, troops of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Armored, Division continued their cleanup of the An Lao Valley and were attacked by Viet Cong forces south of Son Just before breaking their overnight bivouac.

The Viet Cong left 37 dead behind after a half hour fire fight. U.S. casualties were said to be light.

Thus if five representatives, for example, live in one district, all five would lose their seats in the legislature in the next election.

Flights of U. S. Bombers Denounced

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union today denounced flights of American nuclear bombers over the Indian Ocean as a violation of the test ban treaty. The United States rejected the charge as "false and mere propaganda."

In recognition of this, Dr. Paul Heuson, council camping director, was presented during the meeting with a rustic trophy featuring a large 4 and the head of a shovel, representing camping.

In presenting the trophy, Robert Ertkin, council president said he saw no reason why the trophy could not be used again next year, just replacing the old one.

Heurtzman told the council to get top ranking in the camping category.

A letter from Gov. Robert E. Smylie was read, in which the governor congratulated the council and said, "To have the best camp in the Northwest and one of the best in the nation is a result of See SCOUTS, Page 2 Column 7

City Census Takers Ready To Start Job

Thirty-three persons have been selected by Milton E. Allred, Denver, census bureau representative, to take the city of Twin Falls census.

The workers attended a training class Friday to begin their job. They are expected to start taking the census Friday. Allred conducted the class.

The census-taking project is expected to take about 10 days to two weeks to complete.

The 1960 census figure shows 10,000 more people than last year, but the new count is expected to be about 33,000, including residents of newly-annexed territory.

The census will cost the city about $3,000.

INCOME RISES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Personal income during January rose to a seasonally adjusted level of $35.5 billion annually, about $75 million above December's rate, the Commerce Department said today.

Classical music is expected to return to schools Monday. Only schools in operation in the county are the Hailey and Ketchum grade schools where absenteeism Wednesday was 11 per cent and 15 per cent respectively.

Only immediate families may visit patients in both St. Valley and Blaine County Hospital, according to Dr. Alton Packer, Blaine County health officer in an effort to avoid spreading of the influenza.

All public meetings in the county have been canceled for the rest of the week and there will be no basketball games Friday and Saturday and the theater will not open there Saturday night.

Pope Makes Changes in Fasting Rules

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope VI decreed major changes today in the centuries-old rules of fasting and abstinence, through the National Catholic Bishops Conference.

The Washington announcement said the Pope had issued new regulations for days of fast and abstinence, making it clear all Fridays remain in force but children do not have to observe it until they are 14. The present age is 12.

The Pope specified that Friday abstinence applies only to meat — not to eggs, dairy products and soups and gravies made with animal fat.

As Wednesday was made a day of abstinence as well as a fast day — meaning no meat can be eaten.

The Pope specified that in an apostolic constitution titled "Do Foucaut."

The new regulations were announced in Washington Wednesday night by the apostolic delegate to the United States, Archbishop Giuseppe, through the National Catholic Bishops Conference.

Knee Makeup Added for Short Skirts

NEW YORK (AP) — As hemlines go up, up, up, makeup is going down, down, down, adding a new dimension to the attention to the knee.

The beauty people say a woman can't get by just making up her eyes anymore—she needs a knee knock.

With skirts thigh-high, no one looks at her eyes anyway.

"Up with your beauty treatment at your chin line," asks Charles of the Ritz. "The knees cry out for attention, too."

And attention they will get.

Blush, though.

Blush, lubricate, moisturize—even exercise.

Elizabeth Arden proposed some knee spanks, 10 knee oil-cakes a day and a few old-fashioned knee bands.

Charles of the Ritz is ready for the new fashions with a whole beauty treatment for the legs, transferred, facial care comes with the stockings.

It proposes the use of a facial mask to give the knees proper tone, a lotion to lubricate them and a moisturizer to keep them deeply hydrated.

Then for glamorous evenings, recontoured knees, with a darker shade blushed on to deepen dimples or slim away the knobs and light shades for a delicate glow.

If the men haven't come to attention yet, there is one more suggestion—a glossy iridescent illumination of the pearls, more brightly glowing eyelids.

It's enough to put a glowing light in the eyes of leg-watchers—and a new meaning to the old compliment:

"You're the bees' knees."

Jilted Youth Says He Sent Gun Parcel

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Police said love that turned to hate motivated a teen-age shipping clerk to send his former sweetheart a bomb-laden parcel containing what he claimed was a bullet that injured her little sister.

The jilted teen-ager, Hollis Victor Robison, 18, told Birmingham police Wednesday he didn't know what he did it but I knew if she opened the case it would kill her.

Police said Robison signed a statement admitting he signed the package and had a sawed-off shotgun inside a newspaper-wrapped attack case.

The package was intended for Nancy Adams, 17, a high school chaperone for her sister Patricia, 14, opened it and received the shotgun blast in her foot Wednesday.

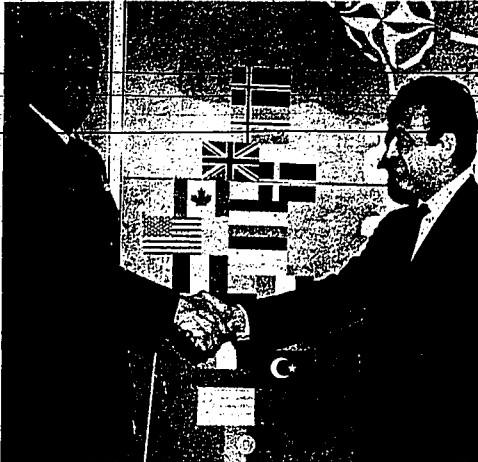

The girl reported in pain to the hospital and said she had painless and the blast had not broken any bones in her foot.

Robison was charged with assault with intent to murder. Detective A. Wallace said that after Robison signed the statement, he took off to a rural area where he had thrown away pieces of the shotgun he used to make the bomb.

Wallace quoted Robison as saying he had planned the shooting for two weeks in revenge for a broken romance between him and the pretty cheerleader.

Field Forces Viet Nam Base Is One Of Busiest Nerve Centers of War

NHA TRANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Seven months ago this once-sleepy resort town on the South China Sea coast was given a job to do. Today, it is starting to pay off.

The task was to serve as the base for Field Forces Viet Nam — FFFV. Now it is one of the busiest nerve centers of the entire war effort against the Vietnamese.

The force has directed the huge Operation Masher, White Eagle, Claw of the 1st Cavalry, Division, and Division, 1st Cavalry, and South Vietnamese regiments around Bong Son and the An Lao Valley to the north. It directed the 101st Airborne and Northern Route, which has liberated almost 28,000 tons of rice. It directs the plant and protection for the giant Rann Bay project, where the rice crop is growing into one of the best in the world with its natural dead water.

And it works with all Special Forces in Viet Nam, the plucky little unit which goes out alone to find the job and provide intelligence on its movement.

Two hundred miles northeast of Saigon, Nha Trang has become a major nerve center of the war. Out of Nha Trang to the orders for almost 50,000 Allied troops on the move throughout the 2nd Corps area with its 30,000 square miles and just about half South Viet Nam.

The American command coordinates its work with the Vietnamese government and with the Vietnamese government which are in fact the 2nd Corps.

That's why the Americans devised the phrase "Field Forces Viet Nam" so that the Vietnamese could understand their purpose and their corps responsibility were not being taken away from them.

Maj. Gen. Stanley R. Larsen, commanding general, had the demanding job of directing operations in the complex multi-national setup without stepping on toes.

The Koreans, for instance, insist on carrying on their own forces. In practice the Korean commanders link up with Larsen's plans.

"They're great," the general said. "They really cooperate."

In a way, his job compares not in size but in character with the Army group assignment of Gen. Brian L. Roberts.

France during the World War II push that coordinated such disparate elements as Mongomery's British and Canadians.

Larsen, born in Honolulu in 1915, has been a general since he started his career as a company commander of the 25th Division — the outfit here still stands and bears only symbols with Hawaiian.

Every time he sees a Hawaiian soldier he rushes over and gets into conversation. And when he can, he manages to have a veteran Hawaiian non-com at his elbow.

He trusts them. They worship him.

As the forces grow, it is the intention to move in strength with the single mission — to win the war.

Larsen, who made a flying trip here to receive the American Defense Award for his efforts in "the education of mankind," was roundly applauded as he ticked off his priority request to Congress.

NATIONAL

BY ANDREW THOMAS

WASHINGTON — On the whole, Republicans are a good deal more honest than second-story men, private detectives, Latin American presidents and operators of children's summer camps, which is to say they tend to stand on their own merits, not with the Democrats. But like their Democratic brethren, they tend to kid themselves about their standing with the citizenry, especially when it comes to politics.

That is why the current leaders of Republican National Chairman Ray Bliss are of noteworthy significance. Bliss, who has a respect for facts, is trying to get the GOP to take a stand on the important issue that the party is interested in picking up a few errant votes next November.

In urging the party to concentrate on the big cities and come up with an occasional progressive idea, Bliss is not revealing himself as a moderate or a centrist. Bliss is uninterested in ideologies; he merely wants winners. As such, he is an antidote to such wishful thinkers as Illinois' Sen. Everett Dirksen, who proclaim that the Democrats will beat themselves to a pulp if they are given the chance.

It is interesting to note that the Dirksenites insist that the scandals and spending of the Great Society will sweep the GOP into office after this fall.

LONG REACH INTO PAST — Parenthetically, Dirksen recently was forced to go "way back" to the abuses of Roosevelt II's old WPA to illustrate the venality and incompetence of the Democratic party. Unctuously, he regaled interviewers for U.S. News and World Report with a florid tale of a Jerry-built airport at Joliet in the Thirties. Such is the bankruptcy of the stand-patters.

Bliss, on the other hand, has beenounding away at local chairmen on the lesson of the GOP collapse in '68 cities since 1958. He reminds them in 1968 that in 1958, 40 percent of the citizens voted at least 40 percent of the vote in all but two of them. In 1964, Blisss carried none of these cities and in every one of them his vote fell below 36 percent.

LOSING MINORITIES — Quietly, too, Bliss has been exhorting his fellow strategists to expand the GOP base to include more representation of ethnic and racial groups. He has noted that in 1964 the GOP lost a whopping 98 percent of the Negro vote, 75 percent in 1960 and 1964 the Republicans lost 75 percent of the Catholic vote and 80 percent of the Jewish vote.

"Take a look at the names on the rosters of the Kennedy-Carey administration," he urges. "Ridiculous! Gronouski, Hagan, Ceballos, Connor, A Supreme Court Justice named Abe Fortas, a Negro in the Cabinet named Weaver. And the Republicans insist on running an exclusive club for white, Anglo-Saxon Protestants. No wonder we don't win elections. We've lost touch with the people who vote in them."

THESE'S WORK AHEAD — This, of course, is a far cry from GOP sentiment in the 1960 election. Then, the party was in a bind but had read out of the party for daring to suggest that, if elected, Dick Nixon would appoint a Negro Cabinet member. Hopefully, it is a sign that the Republican party is now ready for an eye-to-eye confrontation with policians.

As Bliss tells them, the Republicans do have a chance next November, but only if they work at their job. There are Republican mayors in four of the six cities where the party lost in 1964 — New York, Louisville, St. Paul and Baltimore. And their party has legitimate issues — the highest cost-of-living index in history, anti-poverty program scandals and the conflict between Negroes and other national minorities. It is an old story. But it just got to stop being so noisy, and move its rallies out of the country clubs and into the low-rent districts.

LET'S NOT depend on the word of any politician or group of politicians to safeguard Idaho's water.

No Guarantee

Sen. Frank Church has inserted in the Congressional Record a speech in which he predicts the Johnson administration will oppose any diversion of water from the Columbia River Basin. The basis for the Senator's belief is a letter to him from Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall in December, 1963, which stated the Johnson administration would oppose any effort to transport water from Idaho to the arid Southwest.

Idahoans might like the sound of Mr. Udall's promise and they might be more than interested in Sen. Church's belief that the federal government would oppose any effort to take water from the Northwest to the Southwest. But no one should forget these are all the words of politicians. Idaho has always insisted on something more concrete when it comes to safeguarding precious water rights.

Sen. Church himself summed it up neatly when he asserted he was still "not satisfied to let Idaho's development rest on assurances of any administration . . . reasoning that such assurances are transitory."

In the speech he inserted in the Congressional Record, Sen. Church repeated what everyone knows, that the best way to protect Snake River water is to make full use of it. That stage has been reached already where years of drought are concerned. More storage reservoirs on the upper reaches of Snake River will be required to make full use of all available water during wet years.

There can be no substitute for full development in conserving Snake River water. Above all, no one should fall into the trap of believing it's not feasible to divert water from the Columbia Basin for use elsewhere. The arid Southwest is expanding at a rate that cannot be continued indefinitely with present water supplies. Unless new means are discovered for obtaining water, that region will have to do one of two things (a) find more water somewhere or (b) curtail its growth. It's — patently — obvious — which course would meet with the greatest favor and hang the cost!

Let's not depend on the word of any politician or group of politicians to safeguard Idaho's water.

LOCAL IMPACT

No one likes to admit it, but federal subsidies are responsible for the low prices of hot lunches in the schools. There are some exceptions in rural districts where women spend the summer canning foods for use in the schools, but Twin Falls isn't one of those exceptions. School students have been getting excellent hot lunches for 25 cents mostly because of federal subsidies. Not long ago, the price went up to 30 cents for High School and Junior High School students. And there's a good chance meals will cost still more next school year.

The initial boost in lunch prices resulted because the federal contribution was reduced by one-half cent per meal. This next increase in lunch prices probably will result because of cutbacks in the amount of surplus foods diverted to the lunch program. A State Department speaker at a recent meeting in Salt Lake City said federal food surpluses were being reduced constantly with the result that three items — rice, beans and butter — were no longer considered in surplus. If that's so, obviously those items won't be donated any longer.

It remains to be seen what will happen to the hot lunch program when federal participation is cut. If the full burden of the program falls on the local districts, it's clear that lunches will be priced at the full value unless local districts decide the program is worthy of district subsidy. It's anyone's guess how high the price of lunches can go without resulting in a drastic curtailment of student participation. It could bring a chain reaction that would force lunch prices even higher. Here's one place where a federal subsidy has a direct impact on individual families.

FIRST ROUND VICTORY

Federal Judge Gus Solomon has ruled in Portland, Ore., that the Forest Service has a right to bar motor bikes from a national forest area. It's a decision of interest to all users of the public domain, although the reason for interest will vary depending on whether a person owns a trail cycle or similar vehicle. The decision will be appealed and it's one of those things that might go all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Some owners of motor bikes and trail cycles contend they have a right to use them on the public domain used by any other citizen. Those who object to the noise and sometimes damage to terrain differ. The eventual outcome could have a marked bearing on forest preservation.

BRAIN WAVES IMPROVED

It is predicted that, some day, electronic devices will take over classroom teaching. Pupils may even be plugged in at home to do their homework. — Calgary (Alta.) Herald

OVERCOME BY GAS

IDAHO FALLS (AP) — Three persons were overcome by chlorine gas in a freak accident Wednesday afternoon at the Rogers Paper Co. plant here. None were considered to be seriously affected.

Mrs. Betsy Peterson, 38, was the most serious of the three, and she was taken to the Twin Falls hospital. Two others were treated and released. They were Ozelle Cook, 53, and Leonard Waters, 30.

Doctors said the respiratory systems of the three were affected by chlorine gas fumes.

The gas leak occurred when a loading machine at the plant ruptured a fuel tubing between two of the plant's gas tanks on a railroad dock.

The ruptured fuel line was near an air conditioning unit which pumped the deadly gas into the building.

Quiet Down

NEW YORK (AP) — Defense attorney Henry Rothblatt was stunned. The judge and spectators were taken aback.

Suddenly, in the middle of Rothblatt's summation in a Bronx-murder trial Wednesday, John N. Galvin burst into the courtroom.

"Your honor, it is necessary that counsel yell so much and shout so much?" The judge replied: "It isn't necessary, if counsel can control it, I recommend he do so."

Rothblatt went into the second hour of his summation in a lower pitch.

BACKS DEPARTMENT

BLACKFOOT, Idaho (AP) — The Blackfoot City Council has ruled that police personnel must keep out-of-public-bars hours.

The council went on record in support of the rule at a meeting Tuesday.

The rule aroused controversy when a patrolman recently resigned protesting that it interfered with his job.

The city commissioners said they felt a policeman was technically on duty 24 hours a day.

STARTING DATE TOLD

POCATELLO (AP) — A starting date for a $3 million flood control project was announced at a meeting of the U.S. Army Corps of engineers here.

Progress was also made toward solving the problem of where to find riprap rock for the project.

Seven Army engineers from headquarters in Walla Walla, Wash., headed by Col. Fred W. Hirschfeld, will bid bids for the project will be advertised March 18, and construction is expected to begin sometime in June. He said only one contract will be awarded.

More than half the state's city commissioners had voted against removal of lava rock from Ross Park, the "question is closed" and another site would have to be chosen.

The city and Bonneville County may share the expense of finding another site.

Rock will be hauled by truck from riprap work along the floor project.

Scientists Prepare to Note Discovery of Plutonium

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists are getting ready to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the discovery of plutonium, the element whose discovery was a key step in development of the atomic bomb.

Plutonium, used also as a fuel for atomic power reactors, was discovered by a team of scientists at the University of California at Berkeley in a series of experiments culminated on a rainy Sunday night, Feb. 25, 1940.

Rep. Glenn T. Seaborg, now chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, was one of the co-discoverers. He recalled it "the ordinary element."

He did so, says the AEC, because of the difficulty of discerning it. It is tricky chemistry, the prolific radiation that accompanies reactions that accompany it.

It also supplies power for (space) satellite signal transmission, and recently the AEC has announced a program seeking to develop plutonium-powered generators to replace batteries to locate the best of defective (human) hearts."

Plutonium was "created" in the laboratory of Germany's Werner Heisenberg, a pacifist, by plucking neutrons to isolate the best of defective (human) hearts."

Doctors and laborers made the identification Wednesday. The boy causes headaches and stomach upsets or sometimes more intense than ordinary flu. It first came in the past two weeks, the strain has caused absenteeism to reach as high as 25 percent in some school districts. A high percentage of teachers also have been hit.

The Los Angeles County Health Department has labeled the outbreak an epidemic, but there were no plans to close schools where about 530 pupils remain.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An 18-year-old stowaway who was sent home to New York Tuesday, was back here again today. Again, said sheriff's deputies, he was a stowaway.

Officers said that when he got off a TWA flight in New York Tuesday, he apparently eluded his welcoming family and took a bus home, then got on a plane back to Los Angeles, arriving there again Tuesday afternoon.

He called his aunt, Mrs. Lillian Bone, who took him to her home in suburban La Canada.

Normal first arrived in Los Angeles last Saturday, aboard a TWA jet.

Ivy Baker Priest Wins Name Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ivy Baker Priest, former U.S. treasurer under President Eisenhower, has won a court case that permits her to use that name in her bid to become California's state treasurer.

The San Francisco Supreme Court overruled Wednesday a lower court appeal from Orange County that opposed her candidacy under the name Ivy Baker.

Orange County attorney Roy E. June objected when the former treasurer omitted her married name, which is Stevens, in her efforts to win the Republican nomination.

June contend that use of the name Ivy Baker Priest would give her an unfair advantage because the name appears on millions of dollar bills.

Tiddlywinks Serious for Student Club

WATERLOO, Ont. (AP) — "If you squop my wink, it'll be a difficult squidge to score a point."

Sound strange? Well it's not a strange game to a group of students at the University of Waterloo who have formed a tiddlywinks club and claim the game an championship for the girls.

Why the Canadian champion ship?

"You see, there was no other club to challenge us," says Col. Tom McLeod, president of the club which now boasts more than 80 players, "some came to laugh, but stays to play."

The ultimate goal is to challenge Harvard University to a tournament for the North American "wink title" and then challenge Oxford University for the world title.

Eight members who really know their tiddlywinks—winks will be chosen to play the matches, but McLeod, a graduate student from the University of Aberdeen, says members and have had trouble with their "squigs."

"To squop," he explains, "is to cover your opponent's wink with your wink and prevent him from getting his own wink off into a cup. Then, of course, you must squop your own wink and land it in the cup."

to now, the first and the parapenthical enclosed traditions have been discarded to arrive at high-level programs unencumbered by "kid stuff."

This is the first in a series of year-long programs to train young men vocationally through scouting programs.

More than 50 young men of

high school age, and their parents, will be involved in the program.

With the help of the Sawtooth

Scout Center to discuss plans for the program.

Explorers groups have been formed as a result of surveys conducted in high schools, and the Sawtooth Area Council is working in cooperation with business and professional men in various fields of industry.

The Forest Service Explorers are the first organization to conduct a vocational exploration post.

This post will be joined by other "spenders" — doctors, lawyers, dentists, veterinarians, automobile dealers, certified public accountants and others.

Participants need no previous experience to join.

Vocational Explorers meet twice monthly, one meeting being a business meeting and the other a meeting in small groups with a consultant covering some aspect of the vocational field.

Each local supervisor oversees the program and acts as coordinator between crews and consultant.

Consultants are resource men associated with the particular vocation the crew is exploring on a rotating schedule.

Wally Porter is adviser for the Forest Service Explorer group and his consultants are members of the Forest Service.

Clothing is usually of Cuban manufacture. Some imports cost $100 or more, while others cost $20 for 30 or 35

more — beyond the means of a large number of housewives and working women. The material, good taste and personal appearance, however, are to which many were accustomed. Cuban once imported the best United States had to offer.

"They're treated us badly," said a Cuban housewife who said she was considered a "middle class."

"One doesn't have to look too closely to see that," she continued, recalling that the revolution's leaders told them from the start: "Forget about stocking."

Many of their work sites by sites are in the fields and factories. They stand guard duty carrying rifles and wearing army uniforms and combat boots. They take military training in the Cuban Army, in special schools while they perform chores as members of neighborhood vigilante committees.

And they are continuously exhorted to do more for the revolution.

While some do so willingly, many are bitter at the changes brought about by communism. They miss the soft clothes, good food, personal comforts and personal luxuries to which many were accustomed. Cuban once imported the best the United States had to offer.

Agreement Has Lasted For 75 Years

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The International Molders and Allied Workers Union signed a labor agreement 75 years ago when most of its members were molding potbelly stoves. It has endured ever since, without a work stoppage.

The AFL-CIO union and the Manufacturers' Industrial Relations Association — a descendant of the Stove Founders' National Association — which signed the original pact — claim it is the oldest continuous labor agreement in the country.

"We have never had a sanctioned work stoppage since it was put into effect," says William A. Lazzerini, 14th president of the 106-year-old union which has headquarters here. When the original agreement was signed in Chicago, March 25, 1891, stove molders made about $3 for a 10-hour day on a piece-work basis, Lazzerini said. Now, the union's minimum set somewhere between $30 and $35 a day, "with a minimum of $25 for eight hours work."

Only about 5,000 of the union's 61,000 members are employed by the stove-molding contract. These work in about 60 jobbing, foundries, production shops and stove factories the East.

At one time, the stove pact covered more than 30,000 workers.

The contract has been revised over the years and now includes vacation, health insurance and a national pension plan.

It has been renewed on a yearly basis until the World War II years, when three-year agreements were used.

"I would say it's been because we've always been factual, because of the understanding we've had at the bargaining table," Lazzerini said. "The relationship, all through the years, has been done by practical people, those who worked in the forces and those who ran the shops."

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 17

Avoid committing yourself to any new venture, no matter how dazzling it may appear on the surface. Wait to see what comes before you act.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)

Make progress now while your ambition to succeed and your drive to be on the move. Gifted with a vivid imagination and a flair for the written word, you can easily combine the two with travel and carve out a niche for yourself as a teller of tales of adventure.

Sincere and outspoken in your opinions, with others you may find more difficult than many to make fast friends. Most people do not wish to hear the truth about themselves and need to be flattered into accepting your friendly and forthright manner.

You however, demand and deserve complete honesty in your relationships and the friends you do acquire, though they may be few, will be true to you. Those closest to you will be the ones you will be able to believe possible.

Although you are a reformer at heart, you are also practical and know that the world cannot be set to rights with one stroke. Yet are willing to risk your life to stand up for what you believe in.

Even setbacks do not discourage you, for you are one of those who believes firmly that the stars from your talents and abilities are in keeping with the progress going on inside.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birth-day card and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday be your guide.

Riots Flare In Indiana Girls School

CLERMONT, Ind. (AP) — Riots flared twice at the Indiana Girls School Wednesday as "shrieking, ax-wielding teenagers stormed through the school and pitched battles with police.

Calm was restored for a time, but erupted again Wednesday night as about 20 girls — not locked in their cottages after an earlier riot — roared over the grounds, armed with scissors, axes, clubs and knives.

One group of five stole a state police car, but quickly abandoned it when a trooper shot out its tire.

Some 100 Indiana State Police and Marion County sheriff's officers swarmed onto the school grounds for the second time after dark.

The 20 girls who staged the second rampage scattered over the grounds, screaming and attempting to persuade some of the 150 other girls who remained in their cottages to join them.

Past Masters Night Held At Wendell

WENDELL — A annual past masters' night, and dinner, was held at Wendell last night. No. 54 AF and AM was observed Monday evening at the Masonic Temple.

More than 70 Masons attended the banquet, catered by Star of the West, and the dinner cost $3.50, with Mrs. Fred Maltz, wavy matron, in charge of arrangements.

Phil Hirzel, worshipful master of the Wendell lodge, introduced guest speaker.

A. T. Timm and Frank Mullins came to the Social Security office recently to see if he could begin collecting some benefits. He's 102.

Mullins, who held his last fulltime job in 1946 at 82, apparently didn't know about Social Security until he was told about it.

Mullins has 11 children.

Eight of them are still living. He worked most of his life at a sawmill near Marion, Ga. He lives with his daughter in Akron.

Greetings were read from Robert Blair, charter member of the Wendell lodge, now residing in Florida. He was the first deputy sheriff in Wendell and while living there helped plant trees in the city of Wendell at three cents apiece.

Greetings were read from another former resident, James Bingham, 77, now residing in California.

An invitation was received to attend the joint school of instruction at 7 p.m. Friday at Gooding for district No. 13 and No. 4, with Deputy Grand Master Walker presiding.

Other invitations included a 7 p.m. dinner and past masters' night at Twin Falls, a 6 p.m. dinner and past masters' night at Jerome, March 9.

Launch in Doubt

LONDON (AP) — The British government has expressed grave doubt about the future of a European project to launch a space satellite because of spiraling costs, technical difficulties, and financial sources said Wednesday night.

They reported this after publication of a story in the Daily Mail that Britain already had decided to quit the project. The story itself was denied.

EXPLOSION KILLS 13. MOERS, Germany. (AP) — An unexploded bomb exploded through a coal mine near here Wednesday, killing 13 men. Three others were missing.

THE TONGUE MEASURES THE concentration as 4-year-old Wendy Lorraine studies a "Nana" exhibit at Boston's War Memorial Auditorium. In case you come in late, Nanas are interpretations of female figures in chicken wire, cloth, bamboo and iron by French-American artist Niki de Saint-Phalle. They were brought from Paris for Boston's Winterfest, a 16-day cultural blitz. Wendy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lorraine, Newton, Mass. (AP wirephoto)

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Bill Mullins came to the Social Security office recently to see if he could begin collecting some benefits. He's 102.

Mullins, who held his last fulltime job in 1946 at 82, apparently didn't know about Social Security until he was told about it.

Laser Surgery Makes Debut In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — University of Cincinnati surgeons successfully used a beam of intense light to provide surgeons of the future with a knife that sheds no blood.

Laser-made its debut in cancer surgery three weeks ago when Dr. Thomas E. Brown Jr. and Dr. Bruce Henderson used an array of mirrors to aim a nearly beam of blue-green light to remove a tumor from the thigh of a man in his 50s.

"It worked," said Dr. Leon Goldman, director of the University Medical Center's laser laboratory. "It cut out that cancer as if it were a piece of tissue."

"We don't know yet whether it will be better than anything else. We will have to make a lot more experiments before we can be sure give us a few more years and we may be jubilant about it."

The light beam cauterized the tumor, leaving the surrounding tissue unharmed. Dr. Goldman said this "light knife" may provide the answer — "where surgery has been limited because of the danger of bleeding, such as surgery on the eye, repairing the liver or other organs."

Dr. Brown said the results of the first few operations under the nose of J. Edgar Hoover's agents.

An FBI spokesman, abandoning his usual "no comment" stand, said Col. Rudolph Abel, "is apparently attempting to vindicate himself in the eyes of his Red bosses by fabricating statements."

Abel was arrested in Brooklyn on Oct. 22, 1957, and was tried for treasonable espionage for the Soviet Union and sentenced to 30 years in prison after a spectacular trial. He was swapped in 1962 for Francis Gary Powers, the American U-2 spy plane pilot shot down over the Soviet Union.

Abel, 63, now living in retirement in Moscow, made his claims, his lawyer disclosed, to the Soviet Foreign Ministry, Komintern. He said he had radio contact before his arrest, and his equipment was left in his room when agents arrived.

Abel contended he dropped his decoding device into a toilet while a careless FBI agent was watching him, thus used a tape recorder to record the agent's palette and flush it down the toilet, too.

Abel's spy cover was the role of a struggling artist.
